

Brenda and John (pictured with daughter Amanda) have a lovely shaded terrace at the front of the house

The pool is a new addition to the house and perfect for cooling off in the hot summers

Brenda and John knew this place would be their dream holiday home as soon as they saw it

‘We fell in love with the peace & quiet’

Buying an 18th-century town house in a small village in southwest France has opened up a whole new way of life for Brenda and John Sills
